Manulife Asia Short Duration Bond Feeder Fund

The Fund is a bond feeder UITF that aims to maximize total return by investing its assets in a collective investment scheme (CIS), the Target Fund. The Target Fund aims to provide investors with long-term capital appreciation at a relatively lower volatility. It invests primarily in a portfolio of high-quality short duration fixed income securities issued by governments, agencies, supra-nationals and corporations in Asia.

Why this Fund?

Not all bonds are created equal. Investment-grade or high-grade bonds are believed to have lower risk and thus, receive higher ratings from credit rating agencies like Moody's, S&P, and Fitch.

Short-term investment-grade bonds can help provide balance to an investment portfolio, particularly in a rising interest rate environment, because of their stronger credit quality and higher resiliency to interest rate movements.

Attractive opportunities in Asian Bonds

Asian bonds are a booming and diverse asset class backed by strong regional economic growth, providing yields that outperform their global counterparts.

Defensive, high quality fixed income strategy

Focused on high quality bonds that mature in less than three years on average, making the strategy more resilient to rising interest rates and economic slowdowns.

Research-based security selection process

We have a robust credit selection process in fixed income supported by our strong Asian footprint, with an extensive research network and risk-focused culture.
